READING: For items (1-15), read the following texts carefully, and then choose the correct option from A, B, C or D to complete the sentence below each text.

1. In the 1940s, technology had developed enough for inventors to make the first generation of modern computers. One such model was so large that it needed a room that was 167 square metres to accommodate it. During that decade, scientists in England developed the first computer program. It took 25 minutes to complete one calculation. In 1958 CE, the computer chip was developed.

The first generation of modern computer was

- A) very big in size, so a large room was not needed to put it in
- B) not small in size but very slow in calculation process
- C) very slow in calculation process and with small size
- D) not slow in calculation process but very large

2. In Jordan, the number of healthcare services has been increasing rapidly over the past years as a result of careful planning. More than 800 different kinds of healthcare centres have been built, as well as 188 dental clinics. In 2014 CE, 98 per cent of Jordanian children were fully immunised, thanks to immunisation teams that had been working towards this goal for several years.

The word which means “relating to teeth” is

- A) dental
- B) healthcare
- C) services
- D) immunisation

3. The researchers appreciate that not everyone’s personal circumstances and environment make it possible to live without worry. However, they believe that if we teach children to develop positive thinking, and to ‘bounce back’ after a setback, these qualities will improve their overall health in the future.

The underlined word (their) in the text refers to

- A) researchers
- B) qualities
- C) circumstances
- D) children

4. Scientists have successfully invented a prosthetic hand with sense of touch. It is an exciting new invention, which they plan to develop. Dennis Sorensen, a 39-year-old from Denmark, was the first person to try out the new invention. With it, Sorensen could not only pick up and manipulate objects, but he could also feel them. He said that the sensations were almost the same as the ones he felt with his other hand.

One of the following sentences is true about the new invention of prosthetic hand:

- A) This invention didn't enable Sorensen to pick up and manipulate objects.
- B) Sorensen was unable to feel objects that he touches with this device.
- C) The sensation with this device was nearly similar to normal human hand.
- D) This device was only used for feeling objects not for picking them up.

5. The Arab world has many famous chemists in its history, but the person who is known as the founder of chemistry is probably Jabir ibn Hayyan. He is most well known for the beginning of the production of sulphuric acid. He also built a set of scales which changed the way in which chemists weighed items in a laboratory: his scales could weigh items over 6,000 times smaller than a kilogram.

The scales that were invented by Jabir ibn Hayyan

- A) could be used in a laboratory to weigh very small chemical items.
- B) didn't weigh chemical items which were smaller than a kilogram.
